Other Interests

- Languages
- mythology
- making films
- photogrammetry
- computer graphics
- reading history

In the past I had taken some lessons on film making as I was very drawn to it and wanted to learn more about concepts such as composition, lighting , and set design. Over time I started to utilize what I had learned from film making in 3d graphics as a part time hobby (this would have included creating digital scenes for games and renders etc) . However in the past two years or so I have also taken a great interest in IT, mainly in web development . As result of this I decided to start creating and designing websites so as to utilize both the creative skills I had gained before but also to learn new technical skills which I was interested in knowing more about. I also love to use technology to promote literature, particularly the classics and Celtic myth. Besides all of that I enjoy reading history in my spare time.
